.....RESPONDENTS

THE HONOURABLE SRI JUSTICE C.V.RAMULU

W.P.NO. 20006 OF 2000

ORDER:

It seems the petitioner applied for the post of Officer Under Training (General) on a notification being issued by the APSRTC and the petitioner seems to have been informed through a communication dated 14-9-1998 stating that he has been provisionally selected for appointment in APSRTC as Officer Under Training (General) subject to medical fitness. Though, this communication was sent on 14th September,1998 , he filed the present writ petition in the year 2000 i.e. after completion of two years. It is not the case of the petitioner that he came to know about the same immediately and he approached the authorities and they did not respond. It is not even the petitioner's case that he made any representation in this regard except stating that having waited till last week of September,2000 and having no other option, he filed this writ petition. The statement made by the petitioner is most unfortunate and unbelievable. Even, otherwise, the petitioner's case is that he was intimated as to his provisional selection but not finally selected and if really the petitioner was aggrieved of having not called for the medical test and selection, he would have approached this Court without any loss of time. This is not one such case. He approached this court after lapse of two years of such purported intimation given by the respondents. Absolutely no reasons are furnished as to why he approached this court at the belated stage. Therefore, the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

The writ petition is accordingly dismissed. No order as to costs.
